ENGL 695 Publication and Professionalization. Students in this workshop course will be revising a piece of writing - normally, a piece of the dissertation - for publication as an article. We will also focus on such forms as the abstract, the book proposal, and the article review and discuss matters including how to identify appropriate publication venues, respond to readers’ reports, and the like. Enrollment in this course is limited to PhD students who have completed their coursework.

Dr. Nelson