Spring 2018 Course Descriptions

Instructor: Grace Heneks
Course: ENGL 362
Title: U.S. Latino Literature

Description: English 362 offers students an overview of the history of Latino/a literature in the US from the 20th century to today. Emphasis will be placed on the similarities and differences experienced by different Latino/a groups in the US. Topics to be discussed include the construction of identity in terms of race, gender, sexuality, and class; hybridity; bilingualism and code-switching; the experiences of the migrant, the immigrant, the refugee, and the colonial subject.