Instructor: Clark, William Bedford
Course: ENGL 392
Title: Twentieth-Century Christian Literature

Description: An investigation into the continued vitality of the religious imagination in a time of skepticism and doubt. Major Christian texts in a variety of genres from the United States, Britain, and the Continent will be read within an historical, cultural, and theological context. Special attention will be given to enhancing critical thinking and writing skills.