

Fall 2019 Course Descriptions

Instructor: Collins

Course: ENGL 219

Title: Literature and the Other Arts - Music and Literature

Description: In this class we will explore the role of music in society by reading literary or theoretical works about music, musicians and music culture, whether those works are written by creative writers, musicians, literary critics, music critics, or philosophers.

Proposed Readings: Possible readings include works by authors such as Patty Smith, Igor Stravinsky, Stanley Crouch, Thomas Pynchon, Jelly Roll Morton, and Theodor Adorno.
